Course History: Columbia Edgewater Country Club

Founded in 1925, Columbia Edgewater Country Club has been part of Portland's golf landscape for nine decades. Located immediately west of Portland International Airport and just south of the Columbia River, the course is an A.V. Macan design. Columbia Edgewater hosted the PGA Tour's Portland Open Invitational four times in the 1960s but has famously hosted the Portland Classic on the LPGA Tour over thirty times. This year's playing of the Portland Classic will be the 34th at Columbia Edgewater.

Tournament History:

Entering its 52nd year, the Portland Classic is the longest running event on the LPGA Tour outside of the major championships. The event began in 1972 as the Portland Ladies Classic and was an unofficial team event on the LPGA Tour from 1977 to 1982. In 2013, the tournament became a 72-hole event after over 40 years of being a 54-hole tournament.

Past Five Champions and Runners-Up:
