QUOTABLE

Sei Young Kim (-14, 1) on how the weather has adjusted her routine and strategy for the week

“Yeah, I play couple holes yesterday. I want to play as much as I can do, but the weather is getting dark so we couldn't play. We can play only four holes. And then we woke up really early morning, like 4:30, and warm up a little bit. So when I standing on the course, course is really clear and then greens are very clean and then, yeah, when I look at the lie, it's on the line, so course conditions are really good early morning. So I was able to a lot of make the birdie from the green, and then the greens got a lot of rain the last night, yesterday, so I was able to attack the pin. Especially these greens like a lot of release. I was talking to my caddie before the tournament, oh, this course is really so long, so it's tough to make the, yeah, birdie chance. But it's got the rain, so it's a little bit change the strategy this week."

Miranda Wang (-11, 2) on holding her first lead on the LPGA Tour

"My first time in this position, but I'm not unfamiliar with the leaderboard. I will do my best in the weekend and this year we have really strong rookies coming in. It's really competitive. I just want to keep up with the best."

Rose Zhang (-10, 3) on balancing her choice to continue her education at Stanford University while playing on the LPGA Tour

"I think at the end of the day it's something I want to do, it's something that I want to gain for myself. So I am going back this fall just to go back to school; then I'll finish up next winter which is really exciting. But I would say with all the balance, it requires a lot of patience and dedication, reliance on people around you, but also yourself. So I will say it hasn't been very easy, but it's something that I would do all over again, even though it's quite painful."

Madelene Sagstrom (-9, 4) on how she approached the multiple rain delays during the second round

"And then we had our first delay, I came back out, so I was like panic warming up on the range. I came out and I was like, okay, now I'm not hitting it great at all. I tried to stay patient, played a couple holes, and got delayed again. After that I came out. Didn't hit any balls the second time; didn't have time. Hit a few putts and just went out. I was like, let's just be a bit more conservative, play to the center of the greens and just kind of build the momentum up. Hit some lovely shots and lovely putts and was like, well, maybe I should have done this the first time. It was a nice day. It's always hard when momentum changes when you have to go sit inside. You don't know what's it's going to look like, what's going to happen."

Andrea Lee (-8, T5) on her consistency this season, having only missed one cut in 2025

"Yeah, I'm really proud of this season so far. Obviously the goal is to win every week, and I feel like I'm getting closer and closer to that goal, which is always a good thing to see. I love being in contention and I look forward to weekends like this where I have a chance to win a tournament. Yeah, I've had a really consistent season and I'm really proud of that. I think I've made a lot of progress in the last couple years, and it's nice to see that the hard work is paying off. Hopefully one of these tournaments we'll come out on top. I'm just really trying to stay patient and keep playing really solid golf."

Azahara Munoz (-8, T5) on being an LPGA Tour mom, after bringing her son Lucas Vickers into her press conference

"It's really nice. It's something that I've always wanted to do. Like I wanted to be a mom and be on Tour, and hopefully, he's a bit young, but hopefully one day he'll remember being out here and watching me play. It was really nice to see him on the last cheering me on, so it's very special."

*Hannah Green (-8, T5) answering LPGA*USGA Girls Golf junior reporter on what tricks she still uses from her time as a junior golfer*

"I think just making sure that I'm enjoying myself when I'm out there. I can be quite tough on myself when things aren't going well, so making sure that I'm trying to keep my routine the same as when I'm actually playing good, even if I'm playing bad. Sometimes I think when I was a kid I was really fearless and just wanted to have fun, so trying to embrace that. I think I need to do a little bit more of it and it's paid off so far."

Celine Borge (-8, T5) on how she is adjusting to the varying course conditions

"The greens got a little softer so that probably helped a little. Then it's easy to control. But I felt it was just, I hit the approaches very good, so, yeah, try to do the same tomorrow."

Jeongeun Lee6 (-7, T9) on how she feels to be playing the weekend

"I was struggling with my swing for a few years, but I got new lessons before the two weeks. It was working good right now. It's been a while since I played well before the weekend, so I'm looking forward to playing weekend."
