

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4, 2026 – 6 AM WEATHER FORECAST

We survived overnight with no rainfall, but the main zone of moisture is lagging behind schedule. This is expected to arrive in the 10:30 to 3:30 PM timeframe. Rainfall should not be heavy, amounting to a maximum of 0.20" (5mm). Sprinkles taper off in the early evening, lending to a mostly cloudy night with cooler temperatures. Thursday is another gentle day, with a slight chance for afternoon showers again. Friday and Saturday appear beautiful, while Sunday re-introduces rainfall chances. No lightning is in the forecast going forward in our renewed atmosphere of stability.
