Tomorrow – Rain showers are expected to continue throughout the day tomorrow as Champi reinforces a moisture plume spreading across the region. The center of Champi is expected to be located about 250 miles south/southwest of our area by tomorrow afternoon, with any dangerous effects from the storm remaining south over open water. Temperatures will remain in the 60s throughout the day with winds out of the NE peaking around 5-10 mph.

Expected Rainfall: 0.50" – 1.00"
