Golf Course and Site Information
Sheshan Golf Club, which opened in 2004, is located approximately 20 miles from downtown Shanghai. The course landscape is characterized by over 60,000 trees, including Yulan Magnolia, ornamental Osmanthus, and a 1,000-year-old Ginkgo tree situated behind the 4th putting green. The architects modeled the course after the Donald Ross design at Oak Hill, incorporating downhill tee shots and approach shots to elevated putting greens.
