Extended forecast – The weekend and into next week will feature similar weather conditions to the last few days. Mostly dry days are expected with a low chance of pop-up thunderstorms in the late afternoon. Winds will begin light each morning and then southerly winds around 10-12mph are expected in the afternoon with most wind gusts near 15mph and a few 20mph gusts possible each day. Warmer weather will continue with high temperatures in the upper 80s. Each morning light fog is possible.
